Welcome

On behalf of the Illinois Department of Public Health's Office of Women's Health (OWH), the Illinois Public Health Association and the 2011 Advisory Committee, I would like to extend an invitation to you to consider being a sponsor, exhibitor or attendee at one of the most prestigious conferences about women's health held in Illinois.

Reaching Illinois women is at the core of every activity conducted by the OWH. The office was established in 1997 and is now one of the largest state offices of its kind in the country. The OWH serves the women and girls of Illinois in several capacities by offering:

Illinois Breast and Cervical Cancer Program – A statewide program which offers free breast and cervical cancer screenings for women between the ages of 35 and 64 who have low incomes and no health insurance. Women diagnosed with breast or cervical cancer while enrolled in the program can receive treatment benefits through the Illinois Department of Healthcare and Family Services.

WISEWOMAN Program – The WISEWOMAN (Well-Integrated Screening and Evaluation for Women Across the Nation) program is funded by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The Illinois WISEWOMAN program (IWP) aims to lower heart disease and other chronic disease risk factors through screening and lifestyle classes. The four weekly lifestyle classes teach women how to eat healthy, increase physical activity, problem solve, set goals, and also teaches them about the importance of a support system.

Carolyn Adams Ticket for the Cure – Funding for this grant program is provided through the Illinois State Lottery scratch-off ticket, which funds community grant programs as well as breast cancer research grants.

In addition to our attendees being health care professionals, many are recipients of the above programs and are eager to learn about new products, medical technology and devices, pharmaceuticals, nutrition, and the latest therapies and industry advancements that may help them enhance their programs or educate their clientele. We cordially invite you to join these dynamic, influential health professionals as an exhibitor or a sponsor on November 2-3, 2011, at the Illinois Women's Health Conference.

Don't miss this opportunity to network with the health care professionals attending the conference. We look forward to seeing you in November!

Shannon Lightner, M.S.W., M.P.A.

Deputy Director of Women's Health

Pre-conference Workshop III – Illinois HELPS Program

Dawn Davis, R.N., B.S.N., M.S.N., APRN-BC, Illinois Department of Public Health, Chicago

Illinois HELPS Program was designed to train nurses, doctors, emergency response personnel, volunteers and other health professionals who assist in disaster situations in Illinois to ensure proper standards of care are provided. The program also provides community-based organizations, local health departments and federally qualified health centers with information for preparedness of emergencies through the federal hospital bioterrorism program.

Pre-conference Workshop IV – Institute of Medicine Report – The Future of Nursing: Illinois Campaign for Action

Linda Roberts, M.S.N., R.N., Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation, Chicago

The Illinois State Healthcare Action Coalition (IL HAC) is the state driving force of the Future of Nursing: Campaign for Action (CFA), a broad, national effort to drive implementation of the Institute of Medicine's (IOM) blueprint for ensuring that all Americans have access to high quality, patient-centered care in a health care system where nurses contribute as essential partners in achieving success. IL HAC Co-chairs, the Illinois Department of Financial and Professional Regulation Center for Nursing and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Opportunity are working with partners from business, education, professional organizations, consumers, unions and foundations to transform the nursing field to prepare nurses to lead change and advance health for all Americans.

2011 Conference Agenda

8 a.m. – 9 a.m.

Breakfast Session - Integrating Humanism and Science in Medicine

Theresa Gilewski, M.D., Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, New York

Dr. Teresa Gilewski is a medical oncologist at the Breast Cancer Service, Department of Medicine, at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center. Gilewski received a Bachelor of Science from Gannon University and a medical degree from Hahnemann University as part of a six-year combined B.S./M.D. program. She then completed training in internal medicine at Northwestern Memorial Hospital followed by a fellowship in hematology/oncology at the University of Chicago. Her current focus of research is the development of vaccines for patients with breast cancer at high risk of recurrence. Gilewski also created the Art of Medicine lecture series at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center. This program focuses on the humanistic aspect of medicine. She directed, produced and wrote two films: "Reflections on Illness – an Interview with Dr. Alan Houghton" and "Living Through and Beyond Breast Cancer." She also developed a film on "The Physician as the Patient," which has been shown at the American Society of Clinical Oncology meetings.

9:15 a.m. – 10:15 a.m. General Session II – Chronic Disease Prevention and Adolescent Health Promotion

Antronette K. Yancy, M.D., University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA)

Dr. Toni (Antronette K.) Yancey, is currently a professor in the Department of Health Services, UCLA School of Public Health, and is co-director of the UCLA Kaiser Permanente Center for Health Equity. Yancey's primary research interests are in chronic disease prevention, with a focus on organizational practice and policy change, and adolescent health promotion. She returned to academia full-time in 2001 after five years in public health practice, first as director of public health for the city of Richmond, Va., and as director of chronic disease prevention and health promotion for the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health. Yancey has authored more than 125 scientific publications, including briefs, book chapters, health promotion videos, and among those, 90 peer-reviewed journal articles and editorials. She has generated $30 million in extramural funds, including four National Institutes of Health independent investigator (R01, R24) awards as principal investigator. She serves on the Institute of Medicine (IOM) Standing Committee on Childhood Obesity Prevention, and National Physical Activity Plan Coordinating Committee. From 2007-2009, during the CEO transition after retirement of the founder, she chaired the board of directors of the Oakland, Calif. based Public Health Institute.

Birth Control Effects: The Challenges Facing Women With Medical Problems

Catherine Stika, M.D., Northwestern University, Chicago

11:40 a.m. – 12:40 p.m. Closing Luncheon Session – Women Have Balls

Eliz Greene, Health Educator and Director, Embrace Your Heart Wellness Initiative, Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Eliz Greene was seven-months pregnant with twins when she suffered a massive heart attack. Her life changed – not only did she survive a 10-minute cardiac arrest, the cesarean delivery of her daughters and open-heart surgery, all on the same day – she gained new perspective and passion for life. Determined not to lose her new-found passion and to regain her health, Greene developed strategies to fit activity and healthy habits into her life. She lost the more than 80 pounds she gained while pregnant and has since become a recreational triathlete.

Her heart attack forced her to slow down and pay attention to what was important. To engage life rather than just endure it!
