She propels herself and sometimes she scoots herself down in the seat and puts her right leg up in the air and brings it down to get a heel/toe motion to get going. What that has caused is her falling forward out of the chair doing this motion. It was during a transport by facility staff that she put her foot down and she came forward out of the chair. This happened twice in the last few months. We do train the staff to use the leg rests when moving the residents. I think [V3] was just rearranging [R1] in the dining room and I don't know if she thought about putting the leg rests on. We have a policy that people should not be pushed in a wheelchair without the leg rests if you are pushing a resident. I believe it was her thought that she wasn't going far so she didn't know if she should use the leg rests. We did an in-service with all staff back in June 2021 after [R1] fell from the wheelchair while being pushed by the staff. A care plan intervention was put in place on June 14, 2021 to use leg rests when pushing [R1] in the wheelchair, and we had the leg rests and the bag on the back of [R1's] wheelchair. There were notes posted by us and the family to alert staff. There is a care card in [R1's] room and it was definitely on her care card before the fall on August 17 to use the leg rests	F 689

The most recent fall was the first one I've experienced with [R1]. I was starting activities around 9:00 or 9:15 AM. I saw [R1] in the hallway and wandering in her wheelchair, propelling herself which is typical for her. I went over to her and I started pushing her into the dining room from the hallway. I pushed her wheelchair about 20 feet. Suddenly, she put her foot down and she started falling forward and I just couldn't stop it. She hit her head on the floor. She couldn't put her hands out to stop her fall because she always holds her left hand up against her chest and can't move that right hand very well. I don't remember being told she needed leg rests on before pushing her. I know there are care cards in the room, but I don't go in the resident rooms, so I never saw the care card with care instructions for [R1]. I would never see the resident care cards. She usually doesn't have her leg rests on because she wanders in the hall. I wasn't thinking about it. [R1] was sitting on a [mechanical lift] sling in her wheelchair. The sling was hanging over the back of the wheelchair and the leg rests were hidden behind the sling. As an activity aide I cannot see the care plan interventions in the computer. We don't get any report from the nurses on the care of the residents." On August 24, 2021 at 4:19 PM, V5 (POA/Family Member), V6 (Family Member), and V7 (Family Member) said, "[R1] has had many, many falls at the facility. F 689	Continued From page 7 her in her wheelchair without leg or footrests in place and [R1] put her foot down abruptly and she fell forward out of the wheelchair and hit her head. We have had multiple meetings with the facility regarding [R1's] many falls, and it was decided that leg rests would be put on [R1's] wheelchair anytime facility staff were propelling her wheelchair or moving her. We wanted our mom to be able to still have some independence and she loves to self-propel her wheelchair with her legs and feet, so we did not want to take that away from her. The goal was to maintain her independence and keep her safe at the same time. We cooperated fully with the facility to prevent another accident from happening again. We purchased new leg rests for her wheelchair with a bag that was to be hung from the back of her wheelchair, making the leg rests readily available for all staff. We were told all facility staff were given training to ensure leg rests would always be put in place anytime they were moving [R1]. There was never a stipulation during our meetings about the distance she was being pushed before the leg rests would be applied to the wheelchair. The facility ensured us if anyone was pushing the wheelchair, the leg rests would be used. There was even a sign in her room visible to anyone who walked into her room that said to make sure leg rests were used when pushing our mom in her wheelchair. It was understood that if they were pushing her, the leg rests would be put in place. Our understanding was they knew there was a risk and if they pushed her wheelchair without the leg rests, in doing so, it could result in an injury. When they called us on August 17, 2021 and told us she fell and needed to go to the hospital, we asked for two days for details of what happened. We were finally told she was being pushed by a facility staff	F 689
